Public Notice

Office of the Deputy Mayor for Public Safety and Justice
Government of the District of Columbia

Emergency and Non-Emergency Number Telephone Calling Systems Fund
Statement of Policy for Allowable Expenditures

I. INTRODUCTION

Pursuant to District of Columbia Official Code § 34-1801 et seq., this Notice establishes guidelines that the Government of the District of Columbia will follow in making expenditures from monies in the Emergency and Non-Emergency Number Telephone Calling Systems Fund (hereinafter, "E911 Fund").

For further information on the matters discussed in this Notice, please contact Michael Latessa, Director, Public Safety Communications Center, 202-438-8089 or michael.latessa@dc.gov.

II. BACKGROUND

The Fund was created by Section 603 of D.C. Law 13-172, the Fiscal Year 2001 Budget Support Act of 2000, to assure a dedicated, multi-year source of funding for the maintenance and improvement of the District's emergency 911 and non-emergency 311 operations, such as call-takers, dispatchers, call-taking and dispatch equipment, etc. Accordingly, the statute provides that the E911 Fund is to be funded by a fee imposed on all telecommunications carriers operating in the District; that unexpended balances in the Fund will carry over from year to year, rather than reverting to the General Fund of the District of Columbia, in order to be continually available for E911/311 uses; and that monies in the Fund may be spent "solely to defray personnel and non-personnel costs incurred by the District of Columbia and its agencies and instrumentalities in providing the E911/311 system, and to defray direct costs incurred by wireless carriers in providing wireless E911 service."

III. DEFINITIONS

As used herein, the following terms have the meanings set forth below:

"Administrative costs" means costs of a local exchange carrier to bill, collect, and remit the user fee or tax imposed under DC Official Code § 34-1803.

"Emergency Communications District" means a geographical or jurisdictional area within which a coordinated response to 911 calls occurs—typically a municipality, county, or multi-county group.

"Equipment and technology refresh reserve fund" means an account within the E911 Fund that is dedicated to accumulating sufficient funds to pay for upgrades and replacements for E911-related technology systems as and when their service lives expire.

Statement of Policy for Allowable Expenditures

"Public Safety Answering Point" (PSAP) means an answering location(s) for 911 and 311 calls originating in a given area.

"Reverse 911 system" means a capability that allows the District to forward a pre-recorded message to residents and businesses within a designated geographical area.

"Subscriber" means an individual or entity with local exchange service in the District of Columbia.

"911 system" means a system consisting of all of the following:

- Equipment for connecting and out-switching an E911 call originating within a telecommunications carrier's network,
- Trunking facilities from carriers to the public safety answering point (or other interface points on network facilities provided by the District),
- Equipment necessary for routing a 911 call to a public safety answering point,
- Facilities and staff needed to operate a call answering center,
- A 311 system, meaning a telephone system that is used to reduce emergency telephone call congestion by diverting non-emergency calls from the emergency telephone lines, and
- A reverse 911 system.

IV. PRIORITIZATION OF COSTS

A. Prioritization Methodology

The District government's experience over about 3 ½ years with the Fund's annual revenue collections and the costs of maintaining and enhancing the District's 911 and 311 services has revealed that revenues have been insufficient to cover all costs that are potentially eligible for payment from the Fund. Consequently, the government developed a prioritization methodology to guide determinations as to which costs the Fund should support. The methodology divides potential E911/311 costs into Permissible and Non-permissible Costs and divides Permissible Costs into three priority levels. From highest to lowest, these levels are: Class A (mission-critical), Class B (mission-important), and Class C (mission-valuable). All three classes of Permissible Costs qualify for payment, subject to availability of revenue in the E911 Fund. Non-permissible Costs are those that do not meet the statutory criteria stated above and will therefore not qualify for payment regardless of availability of revenue in the E911 Fund.

The assignment of costs to these three priority classes may change from time to time based on developments affecting demand for and performance of E911 services and District budget conditions. When significant priority revisions occur, the government will re-publish this Notice to identify the changes.

B. Classes of Permissible Costs

Class A costs include those costs that must be covered to ensure continuous operation of the District's E911 call taking and dispatch services on a 24-hour-per-day, 7-day-a-week basis, and to ensure meeting performance standards set by the Director of the Office of Unified

Emergency and Non-Emergency Number Telephone Calling Systems Fund
Statement of Policy for Allowable Expenditures

Communications. Class A costs include, for example, call-taking and call recording equipment, and sufficient personnel to satisfy the District's E911 call-answering timeliness goals under normal call volume. A complete list of Class A costs appears in Section V.A, below.

Class B costs include those costs that are directly related to the E911/311 mission but that can be at least temporarily avoided without immediate, severe impact to the continuity of E911 services (although it may be imprudent not to fund these costs adequately). Class B costs include, for example, software upgrades, 311-related costs, and equipment maintenance costs that can be temporarily deferred. A complete list of Class B costs appears in Section V.B, below.

Class C costs include those costs that may enhance the E911/311 mission but that can be avoided without immediate impact to the continuity of either E911 or non-E911 services. Class C costs include, for example, certain equipment and software upgrades, furniture replacements, and any costs that cannot be funded in any given year because the E911/311 Fund is fully consumed by Class A and Class B costs. A complete list of Class C costs appears in Section V.C, below.

Assignment of costs to the three classes is the only prioritization of costs in this Notice. Within each of the three classes, costs are not prioritized, because priorities may depend on the timing of occurrence of particular costs and other factors that are likely to change over time and cannot be anticipated in advance.

C. Non-Permissible Costs

Non permissible costs include the following:

- Capital or operational costs for emergency response equipment or emergency response personnel that respond after the 911 call is dispatched, transferred, or relayed.
- Purchase or lease of emergency response vehicles, law enforcement vehicles, vehicles for public safety emergency service providers and any other vehicles not designated for exclusive use for or by a PSAP.
- Any cost for which the use of local funds is prohibited.

V. SPECIFIC PERMISSIBLE COSTS

A. Class A Permissible Costs

Class A Permissible Costs include expenditures for the following (in no particular order of preference or priority):

- E911 technology systems and related items and services, including lease, purchase, or maintenance of existing enhanced emergency (E911 service) telephone equipment, including necessary computer hardware, software, and database provisioning for existing Public Safety Answering Points (PSAPs) in an Emergency Communications District,
- Radio dispatch terminal equipment and infrastructure,
- Voice recording equipment,

- Computer-aided dispatch equipment,
- E911 records management systems,
- Personnel needed to operate and maintain the PSAP(s) of the District of Columbia including, but not limited to, PSAP management personnel, call-takers, dispatchers, systems and facility maintenance personnel, and direct operational support personnel, to the extent that such costs cannot practicably be covered by the General Fund,
- Lease, purchase, modification, or upgrade of systems and devices required to provide wireline E911 service,
- Administration of the E911 Fund, including, but not limited to, collection, posting, and recording of fees, accounting for expenditures, development and revision of related policies and procedures, reporting on activity of the E911 Fund, and assessment of necessity and amount of E911 fee increases (as required by D.C. Official Code § 34-1803(c)),
- Collection, analysis and dissemination of call-to-dispatch performance information that is used in the measurement of the E911/311 system performance,
- Purchased items and services, such as Language Line,¹ that are directly related to the District's E911 services,
- Utilities required for the implementation and maintenance of the District's E911 services,
- Performance of the annual E911 Fund audit required by D.C. Official Code §34-1802(d)),

¹ Language Line allows a 911 or 311 call-taker to conference call translation experts in a wide variety of languages.

Emergency and Non-Emergency Number Telephone Calling Systems Fund
Statement of Policy for Allowable Expenditures

B. Class B Permissible Costs³

Class B Permissible Costs include expenditures for the following (in no particular order of preference or priority):

- Maintenance of the equipment and technology refresh reserve fund,
- Consultants engaged to help improve the efficiency and efficacy of E911 business processes,
- Conduct of rulemaking proceedings related to the District's E911 services, at the direction of the Mayor or his designee,
- Lease, purchase, modification, and upgrade of redundant or back-up PSAP facilities and infrastructure,
- Design, engineering, testing, and repair of systems and infrastructure necessary for more efficient operation of the PSAP,
- Addressing, mapping, master street address guides and location-related databases, equipment and operational services required to provide E911 service.⁴
- Training and professional development of PSAP personnel regarding the operation of the PSAP,
- Experts and consultants engaged by the PSAP to perform services for the PSAP,
- 311-related goods and services,
- Automatic vehicle location (AVL) technologies associated with the District's Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) system, and
- Reverse 911 services.

C. Class C Permissible Costs

Class C Permissible Costs include expenditures for the following (in no particular order of preference or priority):

- Work-related travel expenses,
- Public safety radios required to communicate with the PSAP,
- Office supplies and equipment of the PSAP,

³ The government is considering whether and how Class B can include reimbursement of "direct" costs incurred by wireless carriers in providing wireless E-911 service (i.e. lease, purchase, modification, and upgrade of systems and devices required by wireless carriers to provide "locational" wireless enhanced E911 service), as permitted by D.C. Official Code §34-1802(b), and how such reimbursement can be administered efficiently, cost-effectively, and without unduly depleting the Fund to defray the costs of such administration. When the government has completed these determinations, it will update this policy or take other appropriate actions to address the reimbursement of 'direct' costs. This determination will depend heavily on whether the amount collected per subscriber is increased as recommended by the Mayor, and the amount of such increase.

⁴ Automatic Number Identification (ANI), and Automatic Location Identification (ALI) wireline database services for the ILEC and CLECs operating in the District have a higher priority than the applicable databases and services that pertain to wireless E911. This is because payment of wireline ANI/ALI services is usually covered by a DCPSC tariff that must be paid, versus wireless ALI and related services, which are bundled in the E911 services required by federal law to be provided by wireless carriers at no cost.
