In the matter now before the Secretary of the District of Columbia for a decision,² Keating is "appeal[ing] the denial by the Office of the Chief Financial Officer of [his] Freedom of Information Act . . . request dated 14 July 2003 relating to the files of the Contract Office [sic] Technical Representative (COTR) for the Integrated Tax System contract with Accenture." Keating Appeal Letter ¶ 1.

As more fully discussed below, this office is remanding this appeal to the Office of the Chief Financial Officer ("OCFO") because its denial letter did not provide an explanation of how the exemptions from disclosure cited therein apply to each record withheld and a statement of the public interest considerations which establish the need for withholding each record in the COTR's files from disclosure to the appellant, as specifically required by 1 DCMR § 407.2(b) (June 2001).

II. BACKGROUND

Keating is the database editor for The Washington Post Company ("WPC" or the "Post"). The Post, a major media organization, is a leading publisher of several well-known publications, including The Washington Post newspaper and Newsweek magazine. The Washington Post newspaper, an operating division of WPC, publishes a national newspaper of general circulation on a daily basis which reports on Washington, D.C. Metropolitan area, national and international events and occurrences.

By letter dated July 14, 2003, Keating submitted a D.C.-FOIA request to OCFO which sought the right to inspect certain government contract-related documents maintained by OCFO. More specifically, Keating requested the right to inspect certain records in the manner, and within the specific scope, as follows:

. . . in-person onsite access to the following records:

The project file of the Contracting Office Technical Representative (COTR) for the Integrated Tax System project, including bills and correspondence.

Letter dated 14 July 2003 from D. T. Keating to Dr. N. Gandhi.

In a follow-up letter dated November 5, 2003, Keating notified OCFO that he had "requested repeatedly in July, August, September, October and November that [he] either be given the documents or a written denial citing grounds for denial as per [his] original request." Letter dated 5 November 2003 from D. T. Keating to Dr. N. Gandhi. The November 5, 2003 letter went on to elaborate in detail as follows:

The delay has reportedly been that disclosure of proprietary confidential business information contained in documents such as the invoices and correspondence between the COTR and Contractor "would result in substantial harm to the competitive position" (§ 2-534(a)(1)) superseding the requirements of § 2-536(6) for disclosure of "information in or taken from any account, voucher, or contract dealing with the receipt or expenditure of public or other funds by public bodies."

With regard to protection of confidential information, I am advised that the ITS Contract section I ("eye") pages 8 and 9 has a section titled 'CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION' that outlines requirements for the District to protect the Contractor's proprietary information. All information receiving such protection must be labeled by the Contractor with the term "Confidential Information."

Thus, I am requesting:

1. Immediate full release of everything in my 14 July 2003 request on grounds that it all pertains to expenditure of public funds. I am told that the documents have been assembled and therefore do not require further time for searching.
2. If the District is denying any part of my request, provide me with written grounds for denial and release all records not denied. If the denial is for confidential information, immediately release all material not prominently labeled by the Contractor as "Confidential Information." Since that label should be prominent, it should be trivial for an employee to go quickly through documents to see if they are so labeled.

Letter dated 5 November 2003 from D. Keating to Dr. N. Gandhi.

By letter dated December 4, 2003, OCFO's Disclosure Attorney notified Keating that "[p]ursuant to D.C. Code §§ 2-534(a)(1) and (2) and 2-534(b) we are denying your request as the information requested is exempt from disclosure." Letter dated December 4, 2003 from W. Bowie to D. Keating. The Disclosure Attorney's letter further advised Keating as follows:

Regarding § 2-534(a)(1), we are denying your request on the grounds that interspersed within the volumes of COTR files are Accenture pricing and rate information which is exempt from disclosure as trade secret information. This information, if released, would substantially harm Accenture's competitive position as it relates to others within their field, and as such, is privileged information. Additionally, within these files are contractor credit information as well as Accenture employees credit card information which is exempt from disclosure pursuant to § 2-534(a)(2) as information of a personal nature. The release of this personal information will not further or expand the public's understanding of the ITS contract, and as such, is exempt from disclosure.

We are also denying your request pursuant to D.C. Code § 2-534(b). This exemption provides that any reasonably segregable portion of a public record shall be provided after deletion of those portions, which may be withheld from disclosure under 2-534(a). As the files sought by you range from the period of 1998 to current, the information we have deemed exempt from disclosure cannot reasonably be segregated from the non-exempt information such that we can comply with your request. The need to review, redact and arrange for inspection those documents we have deemed exempt from disclosure from those which may be disclosed from the vast quantity of documents involved would place unreasonable burden upon the agency to respond. See American Federation of Government Employees, Local 2782, Edward V. Hanlon and Ruth A. Sanders, Appellants v. U.S. Department of Commerce, 285 U.S.App. 133, 907 F.2d 203 (1980).

Dissatisfied with the OCFO's blanket denial of his D.C.-FOIA request, Keating filed the present appeal with Mayor Anthony A. Williams. On appeal, Keating posits that the OCFO's denial of his request to inspect the records in the COTR's files related to the administration of the Accenture contract was improper because a provision of the D.C.-FOIA, namely D.C. Official Code § 2-536(6), requires "the release of 'Information in or taken from any account, voucher, or contract dealing with the receipt or expenditure of public or other funds by public bodies.'"

Appeal letter ¶ 2. According to Keating, "[t]he protection of proprietary information is pertinent when the government gathers data for other purposes, but the records involved in government procurement must be public." Id.

Following a general overview of the D.C.-FOIA, this decision addresses the matters raised on appeal in the present matter.

III. GENERAL OVERVIEW OF THE D.C.-FOIA

The D.C.-FOIA, like the federal FOIA upon which it was modeled, was enacted in 1976 to divest government officials of broad discretion in determining what, if any, government records should be made available to the public upon receipt of a request for information. See Subcommittee on Administrative Practice & Procedure of the Senate Committee on Judiciary, 95th Cong., 2d. Sess., Freedom of Information: A Compilation of State Laws (Comm.Print 1978); see also Washington Post v. Minority Business Opportunity Commission, 560 A.2d 517, 521 (D.C. 1989). In this regard, the D.C.-FOIA was "designed to promote the disclosure of information, not inhibit it." Id.

The D.C.-FOIA embodies "[t]he public policy of the District of Columbia . . . that all persons are entitled to full and complete disclosure of information regarding the affairs of government and the official acts of those who represent them as public officials and employees." D.C. Official Code § 2-531; see Donahue v. Thomas, 618 A.2d 601, 602 n.2 (D.C. 1992); Newspapers, Inc. v. Metropolitan Police Department, 546 A.2d 990, 993 (D.C. 1988); Barry v. Washington Post Company, 529 A.2d 319, 321 (D.C. 1987).

In order to accord full force and effect to the spirit and intent of the D.C.-FOIA, officials of public bodies are required to construe its provisions "with the view toward expansion of public access and the minimization of costs and time delays to persons requesting information." D.C. Official Code § 2-531; see Washington Post, supra, 560 A.2d at 521; Newspapers, Inc., 546 A.2d at 993. Thus, the policy underlying the D.C.-FOIA favors the broad disclosure of official records in the possession, custody or control of public bodies of the government of the District of Columbia, unless such records (or portions thereof) fall squarely within the purview of one or more of the nine categories of information which are expressly exempted from the disclosure mandate. See Washington Post, supra; Newspapers, Inc., supra. The nine statutory exemptions enumerated in the D.C.-FOIA, which protect certain types of confidential and/or privileged information from disclosure, "are to be construed narrowly, with ambiguities resolved in favor of disclosure." Washington Post, supra.

In the present matter, OCFO, in its response to Keating, stated that it was denying Keating's request to inspect the COTR's files containing documents related to the Accenture contract "on the grounds that interspersed within the volumes of COTR files are Accenture pricing and rate information which is exempt from disclosure as trade secret information" under D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1.³ Letter dated December 4, 2003 from W. Bowie to D. Keating.

Alternatively, OCFO stated that it was also "denying [Keating's] request pursuant to D.C. Code § 2-534(b)." Id. As to the applicability of the aforesaid provision, OCFO went on to explain:

This exemption provides that any reasonably segregable portion of a public record shall be provided after deletion of those portions, [sic] which may be withheld from disclosure under 2-534(a). As the files sought by you range from the period of 1998 to current, the information we have deemed exempt from disclosure cannot be reasonably segregated from the non-exempt information such that we can comply with your request.⁴

⁴ OCFO's reliance on D.C. Official Code § 2-534(b) as an exemption from disclosure under the D.C.-FOIA is misplaced.

D.C. Official Code § 2-534(b) provides that "[a]ny reasonably segregable portion of a public record shall be provided to any person requesting such record after deletion of those portions which may be withheld from disclosure under subsection (a) of this section."

Subsection (a), entitled "Exemptions from disclosure," in turn, sets forth nine (9) categories of information which may be exempted from disclosure. See D.C. Official Code § 2-534(a)(1)-(9)(2001). Like the federal FOIA, this office is of the opinion that "the statutory exemptions are intended to be exclusive" and, as such, they "cannot [be] enlarge[d] or extend[ed] . . . beyond the limits set by the [D.C.-FOIA]." FAA Administrator v. Robertson, 422 U.S. 255, 262 (1975) (U.S. Supreme Court held that the federal FOIA's exemptions were "explicitly exclusive").

The proper construction of D.C. Official Code § 2-534(b) is that it permits the withholding of information contained in a document only where non-exempt material is "inextricably intertwined" with exempt portions of such document. See, e.g., Mead Data Central, Inc. v. United States Department of the Air Force, 566 F.2d 242, 260 (D.C. Cir. 1977) (D.C. Circuit held that "it has long been the rule . . . that non-exempt portions of a document must be disclosed unless they are inextricably intertwined with exempt portions.").

Apart from the conclusory statement in OCFO's denial letter to Keating that "[a]s the files sought by you range from the period of 1998 to current, the information we have deemed exempt from disclosure cannot reasonably be segregated from the non-exempt information such that we can comply with your request," the record before the Office of the Secretary does not contain "an adequate explanation for the non-segregability" of the requested documents. See Armstrong v. Executive Office of the President, 97 F.3d Having relegated to a footnote the discussion on OCFO's alternative claim that the COTR's files were exempt from disclosure, in toto, pursuant to D.C. Official Code § 2-534(b), the discussion below addresses OCFO's assertion that D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1 protects such information from disclosure to Keating.

D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1

D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1 specifically excludes from mandatory release "[t]rade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from outside the government, to the extent that disclosure would result in substantial harm to the competitive position of the person from whom the information was obtained[.]" D.C. Official Code § 2-534(a)(1).

In Washington Post Company v. Minority Business Opportunity Commission, 560 A.2d 517 (D.C. 1989), the D.C. Court of Appeals enunciated a two-part test for determining whether D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1 was properly invoked by a public body to withhold information in records from 575, 578 (D.C. Cir. 1996). Because this appeal necessitates a remand, if OCFO continues to take the position that the documents contained in the COTR's files are not subject to disclosure, by affidavit(s) it must show with "reasonable specificity" why the entire contents within the COTR's files could not be further segregated. See Id.

disclosure to a requester. According to the court's decision in Washington Post Company, supra, a "party seeking to invoke [D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1] must show (1) that the party from whom the information was obtained faces actual competition, and (2) that disclosure will cause substantial competitive injury." Id. at 522 (citing CNA Financial Corp. v. Donovan, 265 U.S.App.DC. 248, 268, 830 F.2d 1132, 1152 (1987)). The court in Washington Post Company reversed the lower court's "order sustaining claims of exemption by [the agency]" based on its conclusion "that the trial judge did not make a sufficient inquiry as to whether any part or parts of the requested materials could be segregated from the others and released without causing competitive injury to the affected companies," and "remand[ed] the case for a more detailed analysis by the trial judge." Id. at 518, 523.⁵

Washington Post Company is the only published opinion from the D.C. Court of Appeals interpreting D.C.-FOIA

⁵ In arriving at its decision in Washington Post Company, the court rationalized:

A document often contains some information which is exempt from disclosure and other information which is not. The Act does not contemplate an "all or nothing" approach where this situation arises.

Id. at 522.

Exemption 1 and, in that case, the court did not provide an articulation on what showing must be made by a party to meet its burden of demonstrating that the public disclosure of commercial or financial information would result in "substantial competitive harm or injury" to the person from whom the information was obtained. However, federal cases interpreting the federal FOIA exemption which similarly shields from disclosure "trade secrets⁶ and commercial or financial information" provide meaningful guidance to aid this office in arriving at the proper interpretation of D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1.⁷

⁶ The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit has defined the term "trade secret" as "a secret, commercially valuable plan, formula, process, or device that is used for the making, preparing, compounding, or processing of trade commodities and that can be said to be the end product of either innovation or substantial effort." Ctr. for Auto Safety v. Nat'l Highway Traffic Safety Admin., 244 F.3d 144, 151 (D.C. Cir. 2001) (quoting Public Citizens Health Research Group v. FDA, 704 F.2d 1280, 1288 (D.C. Cir. 1983)). It is doubtful that the pricing and rate information that OCFO is withholding from disclosure qualifies as trade secrets under the definitional standard set forth by the D.C. Circuit. However, since it appears that such information may be properly classified as "commercial or financial information," the discussion herein focuses on the federal case law governing the disclosure of such information.

Thirty years ago, the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit established what is regarded as the traditional test for determining whether "commercial or financial information" is "confidential" and, therefore, protected from disclosure under federal FOIA Exemption 4. See National Parks and Conservation Association v. Morton, 498 F.2d 765 (D.C. Cir. 1974).

Federal FOIA Exemption 4 protects from disclosure "trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person and privileged or confidential[.]" 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(4) (2000).

In National Parks, the D.C. Circuit held that commercial or financial information is "confidential" within the meaning of federal FOIA Exemption 4 "if disclosure of the information is likely to have either of the following effects: (1) to impair the government's ability to obtain necessary information in the future; or (2) to cause substantial harm to the competitive position of the person from whom the information was obtained." Id. at 770.⁸

"statute is borrowed extensively from a federal statute, as the D.C.-FOIA was from the federal Freedom of Information Act . . . the decisions of the (federal) court of last resort are normally adopted with the statute." Donahue v. Thomas, 618 A.2d 601, 602 n. 3 (D.C. 1992) (quoting Lenaeatts v. District of Columbia Dep't of Employment Services, 545 A.2d 1234, 1238 n.9 (D.C. 1988)). Therefore, "except where the two acts differ, . . . case law interpreting the federal FOIA [is] instructive authority with respect to our own Act." Washington Post, supra, 560 A.2d at 521 n.5.

Case law interpreting the second prong of the National Parks test is particularly relevant to this office's determination of the proper construction to be given to D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1 because pertinent federal court decisions have addressed the circumstances which justify (or do not support) the withholding of commercial or financial information based on the contention that the public disclosure thereof would substantially harm the competitive position of the submitter of such information. See, e.g., McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. NASA, 180 F.3d 303 (D.C. Cir. 1999); Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. v. United States Dep't of Energy, 169 F.3d 16 (D.C. Cir. 1999); Frazer v. U.S. Forest Service, 97 F.3d 367 (9th Cir. 1996); Pacific Architects v. U.S. Department of State, 906 F.2d 1345 (9th Cir. 1990); Orion Research v. EPA, 615 F.2d 551 (1st Cir. 1980), cert. denied, 449 U.S. 833 (1980); Center for Public Integrity v. Department of Energy, 191 F. Supp.

2d. 187 (D.D.C. 2002); Martin Marietta v. Dalton, 974 F. Supp. 37 (D.D.C. 1997); Cortez III Service Corp. v. NASA, 921 F. Supp. 8 (D.D.C. 1996); Chemical Waste Management, Inc. v. O'Leary, 1995 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 2586, 40 Cont. Cas. Fed. (CCH) ¶ 76,759 (D.D.C. 1995); Landfair v. United States Dep't of the Army, 645 F. Supp. 325 (D.D.C. 1986); Professional Review Org. of Florida, Inc. v. Dept. of Health and Human Servs., 607 F. Supp. 423 (D.D.C. 1985); see also U.S. Department of Justice, FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT AND PRIVACY ACT OVERVIEW, 227-260 (May 2002 Ed.).

Another highly pertinent federal FOIA Exemption 4 case which merits close attention is Critical Mass Energy Project v. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, 975 F.2d 871 (D.C. Cir. 1992), cert. denied, 113 S.Ct. 1579 (1993). In Critical Mass, an en banc panel of the D.C. Circuit reexamined the scope and applicability of the National Parks two-part test for determining whether commercial or financial information is "confidential" and, therefore, protected from disclosure under federal FOIA Exemption 4.

The court, in Critical Mass, reaffirmed the National Parks' two-part test for determining whether commercial or financial information was exempt from disclosure under federal FOIA Exemption 4, but limited its applicability to information that the submitters thereof were required under statute, regulation, or some other less formal mandate to provide to federal agencies. In its decision in Critical Mass, the D.C. Circuit opined that information which is voluntarily furnished to the government should be subject to a different standard because it implicates a different privacy interest, namely, "a private interest in preserving the confidentiality of information that is provided the Government on a voluntary basis." Id. at 879.

According to the decision in Critical Mass, "confidential" information within the purview of federal FOIA Exemption 4 is also "any financial or commercial information provided to the Government on a voluntary basis [which] is of a kind that the provider would not customarily release to the public." Id. at 880.

Neither the D.C. Court of Appeals' decision in Washington Post Company, nor D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1, on its face, draw a distinction between information which is required to be submitted to a public body and information which is provided on a voluntary basis for the purpose of determining the applicability of D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1. However, it is extremely important to note that Critical Mass was decided after Washington Post Company and, therefore, the D.C. Court of Appeals did not have the opportunity to consider the D.C. Circuit's rationale for distinguishing between voluntarily and involuntarily submitted commercial or financial information.

Based on the persuasive logic of Critical Mass, and due to the absence of controlling case precedent from the D.C. Court of Appeals, this office is inclined to apply the standards articulated by the D.C. Circuit in federal FOIA Exemption 4 cases in determining whether commercial or financial information is shielded from disclosure under D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1.

Accordingly, it is the opinion of the Secretary of the District of Columbia that the distinction recognized by the D.C. Circuit between voluntary and mandatory submissions of commercial or financial information delineated in Critical Mass in its interpretation of federal FOIA Exemption 4 is, likewise, applicable to a proper analysis of the propriety of a public body's decision to release or withhold such information under D.C.-FOIA Exemption 1.

In the present matter, OCFO denied Keating's request for access to the COTR's files primarily because it asserts that the "information, if released would substantially harm Accenture's competitive position as it relates to others within their field. . . ." Letter dated December 4, 2003 from W. Bowie to D. Keating.

Based on the record evidence before the Office of the Secretary, there is insufficient information to make a reasoned determination on the propriety of OCFO's decision to withhold every document in the COTR's files from disclosure to Keating. In this regard, section 407 of Title 1 of the District of Columbia Municipal Regulations ("DCMR") requires public bodies which deny a D.C.-FOIA request, in whole or in part, to provide both an "[1] explanation of how each exemption applies to the record withheld and [2] a statement of the public interest considerations which establish the need for withholding the record. Where more than one record has been requested and is being withheld, the foregoing information shall be provided for each record withheld[.]" 1 DCMR § 407.2(b) (June 2001) (emphasis added).

OCFO's blanket denial letter to Keating satisfies neither of the regulatory requirements.⁹ Accordingly, it is necessary to remand this appeal to OCFO for further consideration in accordance with the instructions below.

⁹ The apparent purpose of the latter of the aforesaid requirements is to foster discretionary disclosures of otherwise exempt records as a matter of sound administrative discretion in the absence of a compelling countervailing public interest militating against the disclosure of such information.

IV. CONCLUSION

Based on all the foregoing considerations, it is the final decision of the Secretary of the District of Columbia that the present appeal is required to be, and hereby is, remanded to OCFO for additional information to supplement the record as follows:

1. In order to facilitate the Office of the Secretary's conduct of a meaningful review and evaluation of OCFO's decision to deny Keating access to the entire contents of the COTR's files, which this office understands is quite voluminous, on remand OCFO shall promptly conduct a diligent search and review of the COTR's files and prepare an itemized index of each document (or portion thereof) being withheld from disclosure to Keating, correlating each withheld document (or portion thereof) with a specific exemption and OCFO's nondisclosure justification. The index shall contain the following:

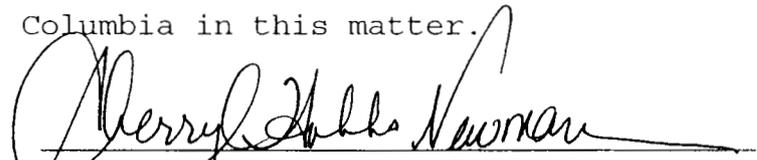

- a. For each document (or portion thereof) being withheld from disclosure to Keating identified in response to item 1 above, OCFO shall provide the date of such document, if available, the name(s), title(s) and position(s) of the author(s)/drafter(s)/originator(s) of such document(s), and the name(s), title(s), and position(s) of the recipient(s) of such document(s);

- b. For each document (or portion thereof) being withheld from disclosure to Keating identified in response to item 1 above, OCFO shall provide the title, subject or "re" line of such document(s);
- c. For each document (or portion thereof) being withheld from disclosure to Keating identified in response to item 1 above, OCFO shall provide an adequate description of the entire contents of each withheld document (or redaction from a document partially disclosed);
- d. For each document (or portion thereof) being withheld from disclosure to Keating identified in response to item 1 above, OCFO shall cite the specific exemption(s) invoked to withhold each such document and a sufficiently detailed explanation of the reason(s) which justify the withholding of each such document, giving specific reasons rather than generalized conclusions;
- e. For each document (or portion thereof) being withheld from disclosure to Keating identified in response to item 1 above, OCFO shall state whether the submission of such document(s) was voluntary or mandatory;
- f. For each document (or portion thereof) being withheld from disclosure to Keating identified in response to item 1 above which OCFO asserts was a mandatory submission, OCFO shall state the statute, regulation, or other less formal mandate requiring its submission;
- g. For each document (or portion thereof) being withheld from disclosure to Keating identified in response to item 1 above because of non-segregability, OCFO shall describe what portion of the information in such document is exempt from disclosure and how that information is dispersed throughout such document, addressing specifically why exempt information could not be reasonably segregated from non-exempt information; preceding five (5) day working period in accordance with the specific instructions above.

3. OCFO shall work diligently to search and review the contents of the COTR's files in a manner as expeditiously as possible.
4. OCFO is further directed to provide a written certification to the Mayor within ten (10) working days of the receipt of this decision indicating whether it intends to comply with the instructions in this decision or the reasons for noncompliance with any of the directives herein.

This constitutes the final decision of the Secretary of the District of Columbia in this matter.

GOVERNMENT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA BOARD OF ZONING ADJUSTMENT

Application No. 17112 of Nancy McKeon, pursuant to 11 DCMR § 3104.1, for a special exception to allow the construction of a one-story addition to a single-family row dwelling under section 223, not meeting the open court requirements (section 406), in the R-3 District at premises 3422 N Street, N.W. (Square 1221, Lot 828).

HEARING DATE: February 10, 2004
DECISION DATE: February 10, 2004 (Bench Decision)

SUMMARY ORDER

SELF-CERTIFIED

The zoning relief requested in this case was self-certified, pursuant to 11 DCMR § 3113.2.

The Board provided proper and timely notice of the public hearing on this application by publication in the D.C. Register, and by mail to Advisory Neighborhood Commission (ANC) 2E and to owners of property within 200 feet of the site. The site of this application is located within the jurisdiction of ANC 2E, which is automatically a party to this application. ANC 2E submitted a letter stating no objection to the application. The Office of Planning (OP) submitted a report in support of the application.

As directed by 11 DCMR § 3119.2, the Board has required the Applicant to satisfy the burden of proving the elements that are necessary to establish the case pursuant to § 3104.1, for special exception under § 223. No parties appeared at the public hearing in opposition to this application or otherwise requested to participate as a party in this proceeding. Accordingly, as set forth in the provisions and conditions below, a decision by the Board to grant this application would not be adverse to any party.

Based upon the record before the Board and having given great weight to the ANC and OP reports the Board concludes that the Applicant has met the burden of proof, pursuant to 11 DCMR §§ 3104.1 and 223, that the requested relief can be granted, subject to the conditions set forth below, as being in harmony with the general purpose and intent of the Zoning Regulations and Map. The Board further concludes that granting the requested relief will not tend to affect adversely the use of neighboring property in accordance with the Zoning Regulations and Map.
